Monica placed herself in Tangerine Man's capable hands last Saturday down the Valley, a place well known to our mob and one that held bad memories for T.M. as his last offering in the area left him the proud possessor of the necklace of shame on account of sending the pack past the kickoff point no less than 3 times, no such schoolboy errors this time and all 50 disciples in attendance had no hesitation in giving both Monica, the Viennese Vamp, and Toblerone Man pass marks for a great Hash although it had shades of Pissbowl's last trail for the Rambos albeit in reverse.

Some fresh meat joined us and will surely have great things to report on our little gathering. Joachim was one and Yoyo the other.

For a change the squealers had very little to say as almost everyone was on their best behaviour that is with the notable exception of Down Early, shortcutting, and Dambuster, foraging, well spotted by Banana Bender.

It was also noted that Dambuster who was making her first outing as a Rambo had to have oxygen administered half way up Pissbowl peak and consequently came back to camp a tad tuckered, that's spelt with a T .

We had to wait for about two Tinnies of time to cheer in Chastitty while moments before, one of the visitors, the quietly spoken San Diego gentlewoman, named Yo-yo was ferried back by the Co-Hare and continued filming the event, we are all immortalised or is it immoralised.

Returners included Bankster and Bangkok Poo plus No Ball's young daughter.

Bankster was also among the deserters along with Herta and Wilfred, he of scooter remodelling fame.

Should be a stormer next Saturday as No Balls will attempt to reclaim his Hashshit title, he mistakenly laid a perfect trail last time out but as they say " if you stick a monkey in front of a typewriter with unlimited time and paper, it will eventually write King Lear" Come in numbers to Maenam 1 and find out.
