

Tangerine Man came up with a triple P event on Saturday last i.e., Pristine laager site, Perfect Hashing weather and Plenty of Punters, well I suppose that's 4 Pees but what the hell let's not worry about a little Pee among us. Go round again had his work cut out keeping up with box ticking and stuffing the red notes in his bulging money sack and with that task completed he listened attentively as T.M. gave all the juicy details of his offering for our afternoon's enjoyment.

The starting cannon roared and all 45 stampeded down the slope and The sounds of On On were soon heard as the leaders came to the first of his delicately placed paper

- It wouldn't be a T.M. trail without a hill or six and he didn't disappoint as we were soon cursing under our breath as we slogged up through the Nana plants and onto Check one, this caused a bit of discombobulation before the pack hit gold and continued on what was all together a pretty well laid out route.....

.....until we came to Big Bruno the horny and very frisky buffalo which forced a divergence from the shreddies and kept everyone on their toes, that took us to the first of his loops but as good Hashers we stuck faithfully to his paper and were rewarded with the welcome sight of the ON IN.

-
- A few stragglers kept the vote on the back burner for 5 minutes but we were soon garnering serious opinions with Piss in Boots, suitably equipped with her downie, giving her considered view as to quality of his efforts, for editorial reasons we are unable to repeat her comments in full, suffice to say that excrement featured prominently.

- Things were looking ominous for the Hare but the rest of the comments earned him a Great Hash and in my humble opinion well deserved.

- Sprightly Simon stepped into the ring as Visitor and confessed to attaining 84 years and still trotting, must be the good living.

- Banana Bender had a couple of suspects in for shortcutting and Forbeskin saw red at his miscreants and to add to the frivolity Chastitty who was Enforcer of the day was guilty of instigating a f*&%ing chat group Circleside and had her dainty derrière chilled for a moment, which she seemed to enjoy.

Urine in Trouble and Frogs Legs sprinted in
together to share the FRB!

- Judy and Marcus attended their naming, delayed mainly due to their absence, and after appropriate discussion, took the knee to become “Starfucks” and “Harley Able”, it was noted that they were confused by the names, but such is the way with KSH3.

- The Circle was dragging on a bit so we moved onto next week's Hare and having been postponed from last week Urinetrouble strode in accompanied by his assistant Crive to ask us all to be with them up the Ghost road on Saturday 29th at 15:30.
- Circle closed for social gargling.
- ON ON
- TRASHER