

Hash 966

After a “hiatus” due to the bug a good crowd pitched up at the now infamous Maenam 1 Laager site to cheer on Virgin Samui Hare Trailer Trash and her mentor No F’ing Clue, our beloved Grand Mufti. Actually, Trailer Trash just kept No F’ing Clue from getting lost!

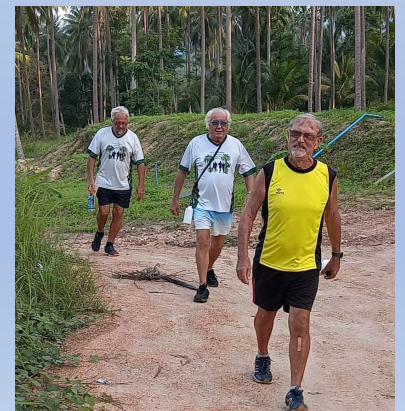

Joining us was a rave from Ascot... Slim and returners Pink Willy and I'm Cummin. The instructions were clear with a warning of various beasts and a distinct possibility of wet feet so the pack headed out.

Within minutes we came to the first item, namely an extremely frisky buffalo which necessitated a paddle in the stream and on we plodded following paper randomly spread and a variety of checks,

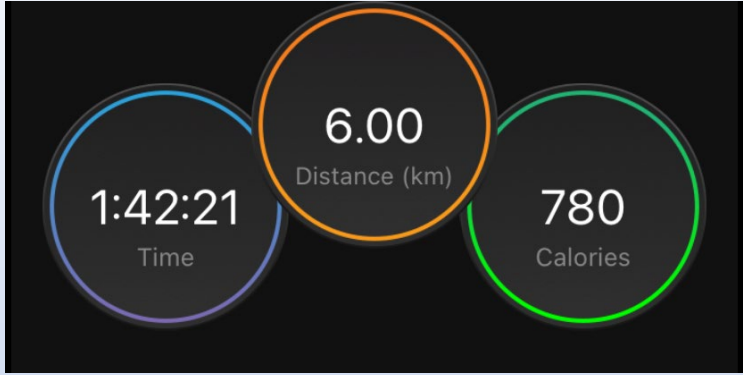

No problems and by and large the trail had few surprises so it all looked good for the duo and when all had returned the result was beyond doubt, so the Lavvy seat remains in the toy box.

Wanking grasser Big Yin must have been sleeping on the trail and could only accuse the Hares of laying from a motor bike, a charge vigorously denied.

Tangerine Man was the Rambo Snitch and he had Crive, Pink Willy and Urinetrouble in the dock plus Down Early who also pled not guilty to everything. Murphdiver was our visiting Hasher from Chiang Mai and gave his nod of approval for our efforts.

Meanwhile our G.Ms lovely lady (Mrs. No F'ing Clue) was doing an admirable job at the piss truck.

However, Urinetrouble announced that it was No F'ing Clue's birthday and Mrs. No F'ing Clue did not have a cake! An icing offence if ever there was one!

No F'ing Clue slipped up when addressing Goes Round Again and ended up with his cheeks on the cubes.

Returners were welcomed back and Slim was keen to point out that he lived in Ascot not Bracknell as someone suggested. I'm Cummin spent 2 years in Ze Fatherland and Pink Willy was just back from down under. Leavers included Trailer Trash and Emu Plucker, come back soon.

The up and coming “away weekend” to K.P.G. is taking shape and Crive gave details, get your accommodation booked a.s.a.p.

Next week Big Yin will be littering the Eco Village in Lipa Noi.
No more business so Circle closed .